

Peacemaker Wanted

Major world governing body seeking highly qualified peacemaker.

Extremely high levels of conflict and related violence threaten human existence.

As a result we will be hiring key personnel who possess unique talents that can be applied to finding creative solutions to this existential threat.

Candidates must convince the hiring committee they possess unique skills and vision that allow them to execute promising strategies to solve this seemingly endless and intractable problem.

Candidates should clearly articulate why they should be placed in charge of our considerable resources.

A successful candidate will be able to explain how their plan avoids past failures and why it offers the world hope for a future of peace and harmony.

A deep understanding of human nature and the human condition is a requirement. Prior work experience that demonstrates experience in improving human relations is needed.

Those who suffer from high levels of anxiety or fear need not apply. Please do not apply if you lack courage and conviction. Please do not waste the committee's time with presentation of models shown to have failed in the past.
